Paragraph 9 should read

9. One device that could play a role in increasing the percentage of women at decision-making levels is the Senior Review Group, established by the Secretary-General in late 1993 for the filling of posts at the Director (D-2) level. The Senior Review Group can certainly play an important role in bringing more women into decision-making levels by systematically reviewing all eligible internal candidates, as well as ensuring that all existing special measures to promote women have been applied in the consideration of internal and external women candidates.
